Some extra tidbits about Fortune...

Fortune is the oldest of two. You'd think that made him the more responsible one but his story reads differently...

Although he graduated from university with honors & an opportunity to play professional baseball, he chose to become an accountant for the government. But, the government wasn't challenging enough for his active imagination. So, he started studying successful people and decided that's what he wanted to do with his life.

It was at this point that his life changed. It got worse before it got better, though. Financial success in real estate revealed emotional & mental wounds that needed healing. Before he could make those shifts in mindset, he got himself into trouble time and time again. It wasn't until he sought a deeper spiritual connection with God that his life began to turn around.

He then wrote a book about his journey & the lessons he learned along the way. As a father, coach, author, & speaker, Fortune brings a unique approach to understanding the wisdom of living a purpose-driven life. You'll learn from him not only the practical steps for improving the major areas of your life; but, also the scientific evidence & spiritual elements that lead to a blessed life and business success through high-performance.

What they say...

“Fortune pulls out great resources from books to practical tools that we tend to forget to use that makes our pursuit of our goals more effective.”
